OF FAITHLESS WIFE

Followed From Lahaina by the Hus band - He Opened Her Throat-Tried Harl-Karl.

(From Wednesday's Advertiser.)

An attempted murder and suicide startled the denizens of raushi street last night about 11 o'clock. A sailor wandering along saw a Japanese woman suddenly rush blindly and wifely out from one of the dens. Close behind her followed a man, also Japanese. Into the street they ran, but the race was not far. The woman fell to The term is expected to conclude the earth, and close beside her toppled her pursuer. In those few brief moments both murder and suicide had been attempted, and both nearly accomplished.

The sailor gave the alarm and rushd to where the bodies lay. Behind him came two policemen who had heard his cry. The woman and man lay gasping, the latter still retaining a flerce hold upon his victim. Blood was everywhere. When the bodies were moved into the light it seemed as if a knife duel had been held. In the abdomen of the man there was a wound, about seven inches long, penetrating the flesh slightly. The woman's throat was cut around, and so deep that the windpipe was touched. The man was taken to the police station, where Dr. Emerson, who had been hurriedly summoned, stitched up the wound. The man will recover. The woman was taken to the hospital. The case is another of the "outraged husband and wayward wife." Five months ago these two Japanese came as free laborers from the land of the rising sun. Together they went to the canefields of Lahaina, and all went well with them for a while. After a time a child was born to them. • few weeks ago the wife suddenly departed from her home. The husband heard Friday. But by Saturday or the early there. He then heard that Honolulu was his wife's place of residence. He followed her here.
